Operations, Shipping & Customer Support Policy Handbook

Saga City is a modern apparel and lifestyle commerce company operating across domestic and international markets. This handbook outlines the official operational policies followed by Saga City for shipping, returns, refunds, cancellations, support handling, privacy practices, and customer service procedures. The purpose of this document is to ensure transparency and consistency across all customer interactions and logistics workflows.

1. Shipping & Fulfillment Policy

Saga City processes all standard apparel orders within 1–3 business days after successful payment confirmation. During peak demand periods such as seasonal launches, festival sales, or promotional campaigns, processing timelines may extend depending on inventory and freight capacity. Domestic deliveries are generally completed within 3–7 business days. International deliveries may require additional processing due to customs inspections, freight handling procedures, and carrier-specific delays. Once an order has been dispatched, customers automatically receive shipment tracking details through email and SMS notifications. Saga City collaborates with third-party logistics and courier partners to optimize delivery timelines, but final delivery schedules may vary depending on regional accessibility and operational constraints. Customers are advised to ensure that shipping addresses and contact details are entered accurately at the time of order placement. Saga City cannot guarantee successful delivery for orders submitted with incomplete or incorrect address information.

2. Return & Exchange Policy

Customers may initiate a return or exchange request within 14 days of successful delivery. To qualify for return eligibility, products must remain unused, unwashed, and undamaged, with all original tags and packaging materials intact. The following product categories are not eligible for returns or exchanges: • Customized or personalized products • Hygiene-sensitive items including innerwear • Clearance sale merchandise marked as final sale • Gift cards or promotional items Approved return requests are assigned to Saga City's reverse logistics workflow where courier pickups are scheduled based on service availability. Reverse shipment timelines may vary across regions and courier networks. Products failing quality inspection due to visible usage, damage, missing tags, or altered packaging may be rejected and returned to the customer.

3. Refund Processing Policy

Refunds are initiated only after returned items successfully pass warehouse quality inspection. Once approved, refunds are processed to the customer's original payment method within 5–7 business days. Banking networks, card providers, and payment gateways may require additional processing time beyond Saga City's internal refund approval timeline. Customers are encouraged to contact their financial institutions directly in case of unusual refund settlement delays. Shipping charges, express delivery fees, customs duties, and international handling charges are generally non-refundable unless the issue is directly caused by an incorrect shipment, damaged product, or verified operational error. In cases involving prepaid orders that are cancelled before dispatch, refunds are initiated automatically within 24 hours of cancellation approval.

4. Order Cancellation Policy

Customers may cancel their orders before the order enters the warehouse packing or shipment preparation stage. Once the order status changes to packed or dispatched, cancellation requests may no longer be accepted. Saga City reserves the right to cancel orders due to: • Inventory unavailability • Fraud prevention triggers • Pricing inaccuracies • Payment verification failures • Operational or regulatory restrictions In the event of a company-initiated cancellation, customers are informed through email or SMS communication channels, and refunds are automatically processed for eligible payments. Repeat cancellation abuse or suspicious purchasing behavior may result in temporary account restrictions for security and fraud prevention purposes.

5. Damaged, Lost & Delayed Shipments

Customers are required to report damaged, tampered, incomplete, or missing shipments within 48 hours of successful delivery. Supporting photographs, order details, and packaging evidence may be requested during investigation procedures. Saga City works closely with freight and courier partners to investigate transit-related issues. Resolution timelines vary depending on shipping region, logistics provider response time, and operational verification requirements. Claims that cannot be validated through shipment tracking data, warehouse dispatch logs, or photographic evidence may be denied after review. In cases involving lost shipments confirmed by logistics partners, Saga City may offer either replacement shipments or full refunds depending on product availability.

6. Customer Support & AI Assistance

Saga City provides customer support through email, live chat, and AI-powered assistance tools. The AI support assistant is integrated into Saga City's digital platforms to provide contextual answers using Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG) pipelines and internal policy documents. The assistant is designed to help customers with:

- Shipping timelines
- Return eligibility
- Refund status
- Cancellation requests
- Product-related FAQs
- Delivery tracking information

AI-generated responses are intended for informational support only and may occasionally require human verification for complex cases involving billing disputes, legal matters, freight escalations, or payment investigations. Customer conversations may be securely logged to improve support quality, monitor system performance, and enhance retrieval accuracy within the AI support pipeline.

7. Privacy & Data Protection

Saga City processes customer information in accordance with applicable privacy and data protection regulations. Information collected during transactions may include: • Shipping addresses • Contact details • Order history • Payment references • Support interactions Customer data is used strictly for operational purposes including fulfillment, fraud detection, payment processing, customer support, and service improvement. Saga City does not sell customer information to third-party advertisers. Limited data sharing may occur with logistics providers, payment processors, cloud infrastructure partners, or operational vendors necessary for business continuity. Customers may request account deletion or data access reports through the official support channels subject to identity verification procedures.

8. Escalation & Dispute Resolution

Saga City maintains an escalation framework to address unresolved customer disputes in a structured and timely manner. Customers unable to resolve issues through standard support workflows may escalate their concerns through: • support@sagacity.com • escalation@sagacity.com • Live support portal • Dedicated account representatives for enterprise clients Escalated cases are typically reviewed within 3–5 business days depending on issue complexity. Saga City reserves the right to request additional verification documents during dispute investigations involving refunds, fraud claims, or shipment disputes. Repeated misuse of refund systems, fraudulent claims, or policy abuse may result in account suspension or permanent service restrictions.

This handbook is intended for operational demonstration, customer support workflows, and AI retrieval system integration within Saga City platforms.
